Roberto Barbieri is the new Managing Director of Sagat

Rome, 17 July 2013. On 23 July Roberto Barbieri will be co-opted by Sagat's Board of Directors and appointed as Managing Director of the Company that manages Turin airport. The private shareholders of Sagat (F2i – Fondi italiani per le infrastrutture, Equiter – Intesa Sanpaolo Group – and Tecnoinvestimenti) have chosen Roberto Barbieri to replace the outgoing manager Daniel Winteler.

In recent years Barbieri was the Managing Director of GTT SpA – Gruppo Torinese Trasporti, where he achieved excellent management results. He has significant professional experience with various important groups like FINMECCANICA, Montedison, Ferrovie dello Stato, in which he covered roles of increasing importance.

He is also a rare example of a manager that offered his services to the political sphere: as Councillor for the Strategic Resources of the Municipality of Naples, between 1993 and 1997, he managed the first privatization of an airport in Italy, with the sale of Naples Capodichino to British Airport Authority.

Between 1996 and 2008 he was elected first to the Chamber of Deputies and then to the Senate, where he covered a number of role including that of Chairman of the Bicameral Commission that conducted an inquiry into the waste cycle.
